Instruction:	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Start with the sparse-tooth side: Begin combing from the middle of your hair and gradually move down gently. This easily detangles knots without directly pulling the hair roots, which prevents hair breakage or scalp pain. It is especially suitable for long hair, curly hair, or hair that tangles easily. 2. Then use the dense-tooth side for finishing: Once your hair is mostly smooth, switch to the dense-tooth side and comb from the roots to the ends. This not only tames frizz and makes the hair smoother but also helps remove tiny dust or loose hair from the hair, leaving your hairstyle neater.
